INSTRUCTION

Concerning approval of nomination lists for Popular Councilors and Communal Administrative and Resistance Committee Commissars.

Recently, in submitting nomination lists for Popular Councilors and for communal Administrative and Resistance Commissars, to the provincial Administrative and Resistance Committee for approval, several communes committed the following errors:

1. Minutes of the Committee meeting with the nomination list were sent in without any information on the nominees being attached.

2. Not all the necessary details were covered in the nomination lists.

3. These nomination lists were sent directly to the provincial Administrative Committee without being submitted to the district Administrative Committee.

The provincial Administrative Committee has therefore established a system for making project or nomination proposals. All proposals sent to the provincial Administrative Committee by the communal Administrative Committee must be accompanied by the following information:

a. The minutes of the meeting if an election has taken place.

b. Past records of those elected.

c. A nomination list which includes all the details listed in the attached model.

All the previously mentioned documents must first be sent to the district Administrative Committee so that they can examine them and give their advice before sending them to the provincial Administrative Committee.

The district Administrative and Resistance Committee is responsible for checking these documents. If any blanks are found, the district Committee must check with the communal Committee about them before sending these documents to the provincial Committee.

In regard to elections fro Communal Popular councilors of A and B category communes, the Committee must describe the following points in particular:

a. Organization of pre-election tasks.

b. Date of the election and the influence of the election on the population.

c. Good and bad points of the election.

d. Experiences gained from the election.

The district Administrative Committee is charged with studying this Instruction in order to aid the communal Committees in its execution.
